

Beware the ides of March?

The midst of a month. For the Romans it was a time of settling debts. Choose it as a time for making art.

NCAG is a 501.c.3 Non-Profit Dedicated to the appreciation and understanding of the arts, the encouragement of new artists, and promotion of art interests throughout the community. Donations are tax deductible.

President's Message

President's Message

I think we are having an early onset of pollen and allergens in the air – that almost takes the joy away from our beautiful Spring Flowers. Good thing the March spring competition will have an abundance of flowers to keep us thinking happy thoughts. At least painted flowers won't have any pollen to make us sneeze!

NCAG President Betty Kellogg

We will be voting this month for our 4 Guild officers comprising our Guild board. We have volunteers for each of the of the positions, but if someone else would like to put their name out there, please give me a call. In addition, we will be setting up the next year of committee chairpersons, who keep our activities going, and who maintain our presence in the community. We will pass around the list of responsibilities for each committee and will announce the names in April at the "installation of officers". While these committee chairs are not voting members of the Board, they are welcome to attend Board meetings and work closely with Board members on projects and tasks.

We expect to have two demos at the March Meeting, one will be as introduced last month, by Linda Marletto. Linda will present her process in creating one of her pieces that earned a ribbon at our 2019 Art Show. She will show us the stages of her work, and how she uses her computer to bring it together. Kathy Conrad will be presenting a full demo of her personal technique with pastels. We who have seen and appreciated some of her completed works will be eager to see her in action.

During my first year serving as your President, I can report that I have received the support and help of everyone in getting things done. I will continue to rely on your experience to keep our Guild moving forward. This next year will see new styles of artwork in workshops and in our art shows, critiques and competitions, and new members to meet! This will be an exciting year, and I'm looking forward to it. Betty W. Kellogg, President
